

Appeals

If you or your child do not agree with the decision:

- To register your child's name on the Child Protection Register;
- For their name to remain on the Register;
- Not to register their name at all.

You (and your child) have a right to appeal against this to the Head of Service Children, Families and Criminal Justice. The appeal should be made, in writing within 5 working days. Where necessary, your social worker, or legal representative can advise and support you with this.

The Head of Service Children, Families and Criminal Justice should respond fully, in writing, to the person making the appeal within 28 days.

Disagree with any other decision

If you (or your child) disagree with any other decision made at either the Initial Child Protection Conference or Review Child Protection Conference you can state this and your disagreement will be recorded within the minute of the meeting.

Complaints

If you (or your child) have a complaint about the service offered to you during this time, please bring this to the notice of a worker who will advise you of your rights and give you information on the Complaints procedure.
